

Turf-Tec Turf Stress Detection Glasses

RTTSDG5-N

Details

Spot stressed turf or plants before they become visually apparent. These economical wrap-around turf glasses are excellent to see drought stress, diseases, and insect activity by blocking out all green coloring from the field of view. Any stress or change in plant health will appear as a different color than the surrounding plants. Faded paint lines barely visible to the naked eye, are also shown, often saving you time from pulling string or getting out stencils.

- Detect stressed turf or plants before visually apparent
- View faded paint lines barely visible to the naked eye
- Economical
